NEWS RELEASE

Death Investigation Continues

(Grand Junction, CO) – The investigation to the death of an infant which was reported to the Grand Junction Police Department on April 29th at 868 Grand Vista Way has expanded outside of Colorado. Today Investigator's from the Grand Junction Police Department are working with Law Enforcement Officers in Alaska. The purpose of this follow up is to interview subjects, compile facts and obtain any additional evidence that will assist in the death investigation.

The facts and circumstances that surrounded the death of the infant have revealed connections to individuals residing in Alaska. In conjunction with our communication with the District Attorney's Office and the Mesa County Coroner's Office two investigators have been sent to Alaska to assure a quality investigation. Variables associated with successfully conducting death investigations at times are complex and require a thorough and detailed investigation. Such factors include attention to detail and responding in a timely manner.

Thus, this investigation continues to be a high priority as we are committed in investigating the facts and circumstances surrounding the death of this infant. Due to the complexity of this investigation information will be released at the appropriate times to assure a methodical and comprehensive investigation.
