The City of Grand Junction’s Sales and Use Tax Ordinances subject sales of tangible personal property to sales and use tax. As such, computer software when sold in conjunction with tangible personal property is subject to tax. The City’s Ordinances do not specifically exempt or include the sale of computer software that is downloaded online instead of purchased over the counter.