GRAND JUNCTION SEEKS INPUT ON UNHOUSED STRATEGIES

GRAND JUNCTION, Colo. Sept. 28, 2023 – The City of Grand Junction is seeking additional input on strategies to respond to the needs of the unhoused community as part of an overall Unhoused Needs Assessment. The city will host two virtual meetings for community members on Wed., October 18 at 1 p.m. and on Mon., October 23 at 4 p.m. Online registration for the virtual community sessions is required and attendance for each session is capped at 30 participants with the option to be added to a waitlist.

In June 2023, the City of Grand Junction began conducting an Unhoused Needs Assessment to understand the current and projected needs among people experiencing homelessness. In addition to having conducted a survey with a full report planned to be presented on November 13, the city is gathering input online using EngageGJ.org and by hosting a series of feedback sessions. Community input from these meetings and from the EngageGJ.org project page will be used to further develop strategies to effectively meet current and future needs, fill key gaps, and overcome barriers within the community's housing stock and services for people experiencing homelessness.

JG Research and Evaluation was contracted by Grand Junction to conduct the Unhoused Needs Assessment and Strategy Report. JG is an applied social science research firm based in Bozeman, MT that utilizes a diverse suite of quantitative and qualitative methodological skills to complete community-wide needs assessments. The OMNI institute, based in Denver, CO, is a collaborator on this project with JG and city staff and will guide the strategy sessions.
